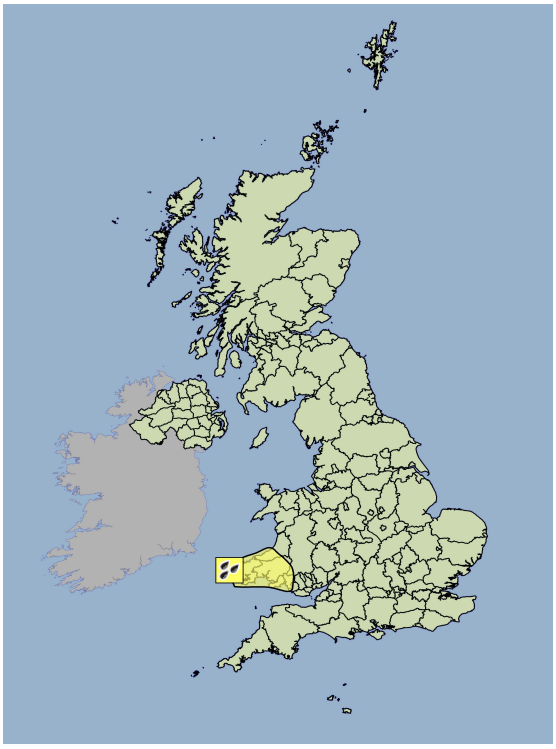
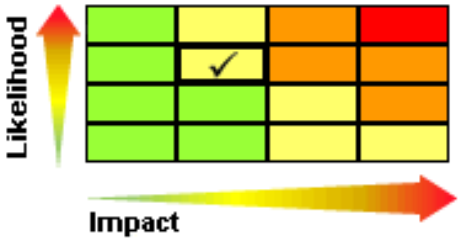
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Heavy downpours are likely to become slow-moving in some areas as the sea breeze meets the northeasterly wind inland. This could generate some locally high rainfall totals with standing water on roads whilst nearby locations remain dry. Hail and thunder are likely too. The showers will slowly die out this evening.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 13:00 on Fri, 17th May 2013 until 20:00 on Fri, 17th May 2013

Slow-moving, heavy showers with a risk of hail and thunder are likely this afternoon and early evening. The public should be aware of the potential for some minor disruption to travel.
